Duke of Edinburgh Expeditions in Phuket*

Adventures on a Yacht. (4 days sailing in the Andaman Sea and environs)
A course designed for Duke of Edinburgh expeditions. We provide our students with quality sailing yachts that are ideal for learning. A 36 ft Monohull yachts is used for a small group of 5 students. and a class 1 IOR racer (Built for Sydney Hobart race) for groups of 10-12 persons. The 5 day course is structured to ensure the learners become proficient cruising crew. High quality coaching ensures everybody has fun and learns how to become a useful crew member. An IYT certificate is earned by all students at course end.

The first day begins at Ao Por or Yon anchorage on Phuket island, where the crews are allocated their skipper/instructor and are briefed on the activity. The morning is spent learning how to hoist sails, trim sails, manage winches and to become effective as a team. Lunch is at a local restaurant on one of the surrounding islands. After lunch the crew learn the finer points of sail handling and improve their boat handling skills. The days activities are concluded with a low key, fun sail to a nearby island with a quiet anchorage. dinner is ashore at a Thai restaurant. Day 2 is spent learning how to handle sails and to sail the boat with skill and safely navigate to a nother island in the Andaman Sea as a team. BBQ on a beach and camping is the night activity.

Day 3 is when the students training and skill becomes evident. Simple boathandling and helming is now emerging and some students begin to learn the art of navigation. By day 4 the crew can sail and helm the yacht efficiently and are ready to receive their IYT certification

Sail in Asia are able to train students on a variety of yachts with close supervision by experienced instructor skippers. We suggest a member of staff or two accompanies groups in ratios of 1:12 where possible.
